BONUS ARMY BROKEN: DISTRESSING SCENES

A typical Borotra shot. The famous Frenchman has nothing better to his credit than the defeat of Vines yesterday.

BOROTRA'S GENIUS

AMERICAN HOPES
DASHED

VINES CRUSHED

WONDERFUL PLAY IN VITAL MATCH

PARIS, July 29.
Jean Borotra, the idol of the stand at the Stade Roland Garros, brought off one of the greatest triumphs of his career in the Challenge Round of the Davis Cup to-day when he defeated Ellsworth Vines, the "all-conquering" America, by three sets to one.

Henri Cochet had, of course, very little difficulty in defeating Wilmer Allison in the second singles match of the contest and consequently America's high hopes of recapturing the Davis Cup have been dashed to the ground.

The opportunity for a sensational recovery from the position, two matches down, is, of course, present, but all confidence in America's prospects has gone. It is not even certain that America will take the doubles match to-morrow. The Frenchmen played so brilliantly at Wimbledon, capturing the Men's Doubles, that it will cause no surprise if they win the first three matches off the reel.

HEROIC TENNIS.

Borotra has earned all the plaudits he played heroic tennis to win one of the greatest matches of his career. Vines came to Paris regarded as a virtually unbeatable. It was thought that Cochet would extend him to his limit, might even win, but that Borotra, going to seed, could hardly expect to extend the brilliant American youngster.

But the bounding Basque sensationally demonstrated once again that Borotra playing for France's personal success and Borotra playing for France are entirely different persons.

VINES RATTLED.

He had Vines rattled from the very beginning by the manner in which he stood up to the American's fierce attack, not only standing up to it, but getting back many wonderful strokes. He seemed to be everywhere at once, his volleying being almost perfect in execution.

The manner in which Vines got rattled is shown by the fact that in one game he served three double-faults.

Once Borotra had worried his opponent, he assumed complete mastery and at vital stages in the match was returning Vines' tornado drives with interest.

The second contest produced a closer scoring duel but was almost tame by comparison. Cochet, as usual, refused to do more than was necessary to win.

Results:
Jean Borotra (France) beat Ellsworth Vines (U.S.A.), 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.
Henri Cochet (France) beat Wilmer Allison (U.S.A.), 6-7, 7-6.

PRINCE OF WALES ON UTOPIA

REASONABLE HOURS
OF LABOUR

DREAMS OF SOCIAL
REFORMER

London, July 29.
When the Prince of Wales today visited, in London, the International Commerce Congress, at which 35 nations are represented, the President, Charles Boissevin, of Holland, introduced him as "the first commercial Ambassador of the world."

During his address, the Prince said that this might be described as a year of international conferences. Although the one proceeding at Ottawa was not international, yet if, as they hoped, it promoted the prosperity of the British Empire it would be international in influence.

The hard lesson of adversity had taught them that the prosperity of all nations depended on the prosperity of each.

ISOLATION IDEAS GONE.

In these days of swift transport and communication and international commerce and finance, it was increasingly true that nations could not live to themselves alone. "That this truth is penetrating the minds and Government policies and the actions of nations in growing measure has recently been demonstrated most happily at Lausanne. This international conference may well express its delight that at Lausanne the lamps of hope and confidence were lighted."

GOOD WILL.

The spirit of international co-operation and goodwill is burning more brightly than at any time within living memory. For this we may all be profoundly grateful.

The world-wide trade depression and economic disturbances have been largely caused by maladjustment of distribution.

Potential output is far greater than ever before. If all employable labour were employed for a reasonable number of hours per week the world would have at its disposal a volume of commodities and services that would enable the entire population to live on a higher level of comfort and well-being than has ever been contemplated in the recent dreams of the social reformer.

The urgent task is to bring consumption and production into proper relationship, not a simple but quite a possible task. British Wireless.

A destitute Chinese found wandering at Smithfield yesterday was sent to the Government Civil Hospital as a case for the mental ward.

The corpse of an eleven-year-old boy, Leung Kee, previously reported missing, was yesterday recovered from the Yantai typhoon basin where the lad had apparently been drowned while bathing.

Miss Amy Johnson was married yesterday at St. George's, Hanover Square, to Mr. J. A. Mollison. The couple are here seen together during a recent visit to London.

MANCHURIA FLOODS

220 MILES OF C.E.R.
LINE AWASH

CITIES THREATENED
WITH DISASTER

Harbin, July 30.
Continued heavy rains have greatly increased the extent of the floods and the situation is growing alarmingly.

Remarkable scenes are to be witnessed on the western section of the Chinese Eastern Railway, from Harbin to Manchuria, along which a complete stretch of the line, two hundred-and-twenty miles long, is awash.

The embankment has, as a result, been undermined in a dozen places and the service has been brought completely to a standstill.

The worst section of the line is between Tientsinkang and Chailantun. Between these points, in spite of the floods, three thousand workmen are engaged in effecting repairs, but up to the present, communications have not been restored.

FLOOD PERIL.

The level of the Sangari River is rising daily, threatening new and larger areas with inundation. There is a serious danger that Pristan and Fuchiatun will be flooded out if the banks fail to hold or if the river rises much more. Reuter.

GERMANY'S FUTURE

NO DICTATORSHIP TO BE TOLERATED

ELECTION POLL
TO-MORROW

Berlin, July 29.

Despite recent developments in Germany, the seizure of governmental control in Prussia, the disappearance of the Bruening Government and the rise to power of a group of extreme Nationalists imbued with the Junker spirit, Herr von Papen stated to-day that the present regime will not tolerate a move towards Dictatorship.

The German Chancellor, who is controlling the country by means of official decrees, gave an assurance to this effect in the course of a speech which was broadcast in English to America.

REDS BLAMED.

He blamed the Communists for the recent grave disorders, in which dozens of people all over Germany have been killed or wounded, but ascribed the real source of the discontent in the country to the Versailles Peace Treaty, which after fourteen years maintained Germany in a state of inferiority.

Every precaution is being taken to prevent the political excitement aroused by the elections and the serious clashes of the last few weeks from developing graver proportions.

The likelihood of serious disturbances following the polling is likely to be minimised by a decree issued by President Hindenburg to-day proclaiming a political truce for ten days, beginning on July 31.

EX-KING MANOEL OF PORTUGAL

REMAINS ON WAY
TO LISBON

London, July 29.

Portsmouth is in official mourning, the occasion being the arrival on route for Portugal, of the coffin containing the remains of the ex-King Manoel, which are being transported aboard H.M.S. Concord to Portugal for burial.

A naval guard, with arms reversed, met the cortege, amongst which was a representative of the Commander-in-Chief, Portsmouth. Buglers sounded the "Last Post." The Concord, flying the Portuguese flag at half-mast, and escorted by destroyers, later left the harbour. Reuter.

DISPIRITED MEN STRAGGLING AWAY

RADICALS HIGHLY INCENSED

DENUNCIATION POURS
ON WHITE HOUSE

Washington, July 29.
Distressing scenes are marking the forcible expulsion of the Bonus Army from Washington and yesterday's attacks by the troops have aroused much bitter feeling throughout the country.

Since dawn to-day, bedraggled groups of the formerly well-organised Bonus Marchers have been straggling from the capital, not knowing exactly what to do or where to go, many carrying their belongings in packs and bundles strapped to their backs.

Bewildered women and children sat on boxes and bundles on the side of the road, awaiting lifts from the few members of the Bonus Army with motor-cars or from good-natured motorists.

BLACKENED.

In the meantime, the scene at their former temporary homes is a grim reminder. Blue smoke mingled with the odour of burning feathers and wool is curling over the blackened ruins of the bonus camps in Pennsylvania Avenue and at Anacostia, where strong pickets of infantry with fixed bayonets are standing guard.

There is also a heavy police guard on the White House, where, it is stated, many telegrams containing threats and denunciations have been received from radicals as a result of yesterday's clash.

One hundred dispirited members of the Bonus Army are collecting at a private ground outside the city offered by the owners. It is unlikely that they will be disturbed by the authorities. Reuter.

WASHOUT ON THE RAILWAY

CANTON SERVICE
SUSPENDED

Traffic on the Kowloon-Canton railway has been dislocated as a result of a wash-out on the Chinese section caused by the recent heavy rains, and as a result, express trains between Canton and Kowloon have been cancelled.

The Traffic Manager of the Railway stated this morning that the wash-out had occurred between Wuchung and Namkung. Repairs are now being effected but no idea is given when communication will be restored. Consequently the service has been suspended until further notice.

Hongkong has also been experiencing heavy rains, although up to the present no serious landslides have been reported. The fall for the 24 hours ended at 10.30 a.m. to-day was 3.21 inches.

CASUAL LABOUR
ENGAGED

Harbin, July 30.

Casual workers have been engaged but they are not competent to maintain an efficient service. Reuter.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES

RE-ORGANISATION
SCHEME

COUNTER-PROPOSALS
BY UNOFFICIALS

An enlargement of the Sanitary Board, in preference to the creation of a Public Health Board, is to be urged at Tuesday's meeting of the Sanitary Board in a resolution containing the unanimous views of the Unofficial members on the recommendations made by the Hon. Dr. Wellington for the reorganisation of the Colony's medical and sanitary services.

Mr. C. Champkin will move the resolution, which is in the following terms:

1.—That it is unnecessary to create a Public Health Board which is to function separately and independently of the existing Sanitary Board.

MORE UNOFFICIALS.

2.—That the Constitution of the Sanitary Board be enlarged in order that it may function as a Public Health Board with the personnel suggested by the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services for his Public Health Advisory Board except that the Vice-Chairman shall be a non-technical man, (preferably the Secretary for Chinese Affairs) but with a proportionate increase in the number of the unofficial representatives of the public, so that the existing unofficial majority be approximately maintained, such enlarged Board to exercise all the functions of the present Sanitary Board, together with the new functions contemplated by the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services for his Public Health Advisory Board.

3.—That it is imperative in the interests of the general public that all questions of policy and expenditure of public money should be vested in the Public Health Board.

MEDICAL CO-OPERATION.

4.—That, as regards the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services' recommendations under sub-heading "The Medical or Curative Branch", having regard to the necessity for economy in the working out of the scheme, sufficient recognition has not been accorded to the fact that there are in the Colony highly qualified medical practitioners who may be willing to co-operate, either in an honorary capacity, or on part time engagements, or to the fact that Hongkong University Clinical Professors are, and have for some time past been, rendering valued and highly appreciated public services.

5.—That copies of such memoranda on the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services' recommendations as have been submitted to the Head of the Sanitary Department by members of this Board be forwarded to the Government for its consideration.

WAR MEMORIALS IN FRANCE

TWO UNVEILING
CEREMONIES

London, July 29.
Air Field Marshal Lord Trenchard will at Arras on Sunday, unveil a memorial bearing the names of 34,921 officers and men of the British Empire, who, between the Spring of 1916 and August, 1918, died in the Arras neighbourhood, but whose graves are not known.

With it is a memorial to over a thousand men of the British Air Forces who lie in nameless graves on the Western Front.

Monday's ceremony at Thiepval, when the Prince of Wales unveils the memorial to officers and men from all parts of the Empire who lie in unknown graves in the Somme area, is being broadcast in Britain, France, Belgium, Canada, South Africa and the United States. —British Wireless.

ENGLAND'S TEST TEAM

THIRTEEN PLAYERS
INVITED

SEVEN AMATEURS

London, July 29.

Definite invitations to tour Australia with the England team during the coming winter have now been extended by the M.C.C. to thirteen players, including no fewer than seven amateurs.

The thirteen selected up to the present are:—

D. R. Jardine, captain (Surrey).
K. S. Daley (Sussex).
R. W. V. Robins (Middlesex).
F. R. Brown (Surrey).
R. E. S. Wyatt (Warwick).
Nawab of Patni (Worcester).
G. O. Allen (Middlesex).
Stutcliffe (Yorkshire).
Hammond (Gloucester).
Larwood (Notts).
Voce (Notts).
Duckworth (Lancashire).
Ames (Kent).

THREE MORE.

Three more will be invited before the team is completed, and there are hosts of claimants for these places, including Varsity, the Yorkshire slow bowler, Maurice Tate, the hero of many a Test Match, Paynter, Lancashire's most promising youngster, James Langridge, the Sussex all-rounder, Keeton, the brilliant Notts first-wicket batsman, Holmes (Yorkshire) as a rival to Keeton, the latter likely to be given the preference on account of his youth, while even Patsy Hendren cannot be regarded as finished with.

The last three selections will obviously give the Committee a longer period of anxious thought than was necessary to arrive at the thirteen personalities already invited.

FORMIDABLE SIDE.

The team as it stands could put an extremely formidable eleven into the field. If Ames is preferred to Duckworth for his batting skill, and Robins or Allen stood down, according to the wicket, D. R. Jardine could take into the field seven batsmen right in the top class, while both Brown and Larwood have been known to make runs and there are centuries in Allen and Robins. The team would, in fact, have no tail.

Jardine would, at the same time, have six bowlers at his disposal, although only Larwood can claim real experience of Australian wickets and gives real confidence. Reuter.

Apparently caused by the recent rains, a collapse occurred to an omnibus in Bute Street, near the Yau-mai Railway Station yesterday. Stones and earth were carried down, and a six-year-old boy, the son of a construction coöper, was injured, being subsequently admitted to the Kowloon Hospital with a broken right leg and injuries to the feet and hands.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

CHAPTER I

The green roadster cutting its way, sleek and ribbon-like, down the boulevard came to an abrupt, jolting stop at the intersection with Twenty-fourth street.

Cherry Dixon's chin rose to meet the sweep of the cold wind. Fluttering ends of a coral scarf escaped from her throat to do a mad dance over one shoulder. It was one of those days in early April when brilliant sunshine showered down on the world without warming it. The pale gold radiance seemed almost to make the air more biting. But it was spring sunshine, spring air and the combination was irresistible.

Cherry crooked her wrist for a quick glance at a watch dial. Only 1:19 now. She was not due for 20 minutes. There was plenty of time—oh plenty to reach the Wellington for her 1:30 engagement.

She had known all along there was time enough. Little danger that to-day of all days she would be late!

Another halt for traffic lights and then on again. Cherry's impatience was gone. What a day it was to be 19, to know the beige suit was becoming as it was new, to be on her way to meet an exciting young man and to know—at least to know almost—that he cared as much about the meeting as she did!

Warm colour that could not have been accounted for by the April wind crept into Cherry Dixon's cheeks. A chance observer, feminine, would have been almost sure to think "Lucky girl!" at sight of Cherry so pretty, so youthful, at the wheel of her expensive roadster. A chance observer, masculine, would have been almost sure to think, "Lucky break to know a girl like that!"

Well, Cherry thought that she was lucky. For none of the reasons chance observers might have cited, however.

It had been the greatest luck in the world, surely, that for the second time in a week she was to see Dan Phillips. Oh, it had been simple to manage, telling Mother about the Guild committee meeting and to drive into town alone. There had been a committee meeting—until Gretchen postponed it. For that matter, what other girl of 19 would have to explain where she was going and with whom if the notion to take a drive at midday happened to strike her?

The roadster reached the viaduct and was swept into the slow stream of east-bound travel. At Twelfth street—Wellington's busiest thoroughfare, boasting three buildings 20 stories high—the flash of green was almost lost in the crush of taxicabs, trucks, limousines and small, wheezing vehicles.

There was no time now to try to justify her deception, no time for day dreams. The shrill, authoritative blast of an officer's whistle sent the swarming mass ahead. The girl, in the green car managed expertly to keep abreast of the current. Three blocks more and the roadster swerved to the curb before the Hotel Wellington.

Cherry stepped out, surrendered the car to a doorman and entered the grey stone building. She crossed the lobby and mounted the broad stairway leading to the mezzanine.

Mazie Cassidy, whose glowing titian curls and blue eyes made the corner stand a highly decorative corner of the lobby, tapped the arm of her friend, Joe Kampschmidt, who was leaning over the glass surface of the counter.

"Well—look what blew in!" Mazie whispered in a tone that belied her indifferent gaze.

Kampschmidt concentrated on the slim figure ascending the stairway. "Some baby!" he said casually. "Who is she?"

"Some baby's right!" Mazie commented. "What I wouldn't give for the dough her old man's got! Cherry Dixon—that's her name. Lives out in Sherwood Heights in one of those swell houses with a yard around it as big as a farm. I've seen her picture on the society pages. Most of the time she's away—in Europe or at some swell school or something. Gosh—some people have all the luck!"

"How about me, Mazie? Do I get a break this trip or are you going to another of your sixteenth cousins' weddings?"

Mazie grinned. "You can call me," she said. "About eight o'clock. There's a new orchestra at the Crystal Ballroom."

Whereupon Miss Cassidy and her friend forgot their interest in Cherry Dixon for more personal subjects.

It was 20 minutes after Cherry Dixon's arrival that a tall young man strode into the Wellington lobby. He wore a grey suit and carried a topcoat. His grey felt was tipped at an angle just slightly rakish. Broad shoulders, rather angular. Not a handsome young man but an attractive one.

In a dozen strides he had reached the stairway. Someone sang out, "Hi! Phillips!" just before he rounded the bend of the stairs. The young man turned, waved in salute and continued on his way.

The mezzanine floor of the Hotel Wellington was a rather narrow gallery running the length of the Twelfth street side of the building. It was thickly carpeted and furnished in shades of wood green, bronze and ivory. Groups of overstuffed chairs, benches and four high-backed lounges were arranged near the iron work railing to overlook the first floor. Small desks and chairs stood beside the wall. The lighting was dim because heavy draperies shut out the daylight and only small desk lamps supplemented it.

The young man in grey gained the top step and looked about. None of the persons in sight seemed to interest him. There was a stout man in dark-rimmed spectacles writing at the nearest desk. Farther on two matrons engaged in conversation, one of them reciting emphatically. At the extreme end of the gallery a small boy was bobbing about after a mechanical toy.

The young man stepped forward uncertainly. All at once he caught sight of a beige shoulder nearly hidden by the sides of a wing-backed chair. He made for that chair.

"So there you are!"

"Oh, Dan!"

"Cherry!"

Brown eyes laughed up at grey ones. The girl was prettier when she smiled. The green velvet of the chair was a perfect background for her colouring. The small, rather oval face was creamy ivory except where tinges of rose burned through on each cheek. Curling lashes made the dark eyes darker. Her lips were crimson, possibly explained by the silver vanity case she held. Nature had designed those lips a trifle wide but the effect was charming.

Any expert would have said, too, that Cherry Dixon's nose was a fraction short of classic standards. Somehow the defect increased instead of detracted from the piquant total.

The tilted brim of her close fitting brown hat revealed a crescent of dark hair over one temple.

Except for the brown hat and coral scarf Cherry was entirely in beige—beige suit and sweater, beige pumps and cobweb hose, gloves and even a purse of the same shade. The tone suited her perfectly.

Dan Phillips pulled the nearest chair nearer and swung into it. "A thousand pardons if I'm late!" he began. "I had three clocks and a watch and I set 'em all—"

"But you're not late. You're five minutes ahead of time. See?" Cherry held up a slender wrist banded with platinum. The tiny oblong dial on the platinum band recorded 25 minutes past one. "I came in early for some errands and finished them sooner than I expected," she added. Prevarication No. 11 for Miss Cherry Dixon that day, but surely she must keep him from guessing at her eagerness.

"Then it's all right. Of course the three clocks each keep different time and I couldn't be sure—excuse me, Miss Dixon, but I've got to stop right here and tell you that of all God's fairest creatures you are the prettiest, the most utterly devastating—"

"Please, Mr. Phillips!" The cheeks were crimson but the girl's eyes were laughing.

"Mr. Phillips? I thought it was going to be 'Dan' from now on?"

"Well then, Dan, stop it. You're making fun of me!"

"If I ever heard blasphemy—I Coyotes and cuttlefish! Why, my dear young woman, I'd as soon cut off my right arm. What I really meant to say was that the prettiest girl in the world is looking prettier than she has any right to look. What's going to come of this? You can't keep it up, you know. These old eyes won't stand it. You can't keep getting more beautiful every time I see you!"

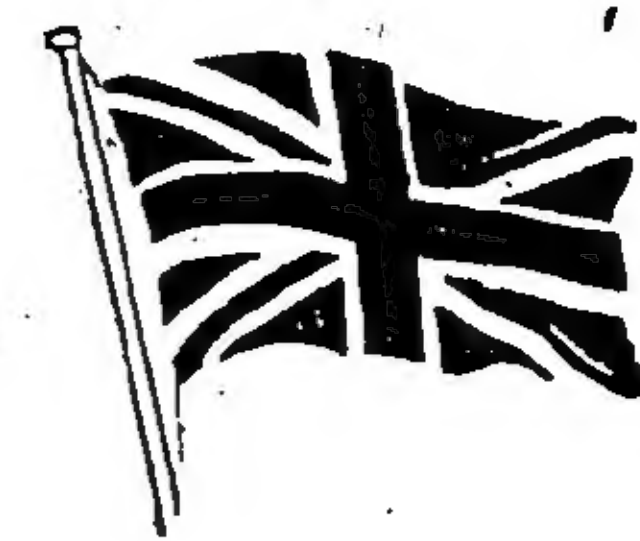

Cherry rose to meet the teasing. She said demurely, "Sorry, sir. You can always look away, you know."

"But that's just what I can't do—and don't want to. Say, are you as hungry as I am?"

The abrupt change of subject made the girl laugh. "Perishing," she said. "Positively perishing!"

"Then let's find food!" Phillips snapped two fingers together with a resounding crack and was on his feet. Cherry arose and for an instant they stood there, the girl's head only a little above the youth's shoulder. Her eyes held a dancing light of happiness. The young man's face sobered. He touched her arm and together they moved toward the stairs.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRE.

"Men Like These!" which was directed for B.I.P. by Walter Summers is the most impressive and heart-rending picture ever produced.

The subject of the film is the heroism of a submarine crew which is trapped on the ocean bed following a fatal collision. The director, by means of a conduit of twenty tons of water, reproduced scenes of the crew being engulfed in a torrent which is stemmed only by a gigantic struggle to close the bulkhead doors. This conflict between man and water provides a thrilling spectacle of human courage and should inspire filmgoers with an understanding of the perils which face the men who go down into the seas in ships.

Scenes follow which show the water level in the helpless vessel rising by degrees until the captive crew is waist deep in the flood. Before an attempt at escape is made, the crew repeat the Lord's Prayer, and the fact that the production of this scene, with its solemnity and awe-inspiring appeal, brought about a profound silence in the studio which no one dared to break, indicates that this film when it is shown at the Queen's Theatre to-morrow will touch even the hardest heart.

"One Hour With You."

Success is a mixture of ability, luck and persistence, opines Jeanette MacDonald, one of the screen's leading actress-singer-beauties, who appears opposite Maurice Chevalier in Paramount's "One Hour With You." At least she disclosed that her own success had held this mixture.

Now for the second time, Miss MacDonald plays the leading feminine role in Maurice Chevalier's latest starring picture, "One Hour With You," which comes to the King's and Oriental Theatre to-morrow. Her first appearance with the international star was in "The Love Parade," which was one of the notable pictures of two years ago.

"Husband's Holiday."

Family life—its joys and disappointments, its excitements, its human drama, its laughing hours—

all these are presented with facile directorial touches and skillful artistic strength in "Husband's Holiday," the Paramount talkie featuring Clive Brook, Charlie Ruggles, Vivienne Osborne and Harry Bannister at the King's Theatre to-day.

A picture of families and for families, "Husband's Holiday," gets off to a quick start, and holds its pulsating tempo for more than an hour of gripping, enchanting entertainment.

Clive Brook is seen as the romantic-minded husband who yields to the charms of a beautiful young woman, Juliette Compton. With a last spark of half-mindedness he tells his wife, Vivienne Osborne, about the affair. He suggests that they get a divorce. Unexpected developments follow and the dilemma is settled in a truly joyful manner, and all ends happily for the family that had been so close to moral disaster.

"Condemned to Death."

We are given really good entertainment in "Condemned to Death," the screen adaptation of George Goodchild's mystery play, "Jack O' Lantern." Apart from the engrossing nature of the story, the film is interesting because it has been directed by Walter Forde. "Condemned to Death" is a drama of dual personality and opens upon a strong note of hypnotic suggestion, the effects of which do not become apparent until mysterious murders by a certain Jack O' Lantern baffle the police. It is then assumed by the judge who tried and sentenced Tobias Lantern to death that one by one the principal actors in that court drama are being murdered, and when he himself receives a letter of warning, it is certain that the dead murderer is avenging his fate by "willing" the death of those who sent him to his doom.

At last Scotland Yard have a basis upon which to work, and the thriller increases in dramatic power as the story develops to a startling conclusion.

Garden Theatre

To-day is the last chance to see that startling and blood-curdling thriller, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" at the new Garden Theatre. Saturday marks the ending of its run in Hongkong and the last opportunity to see Frederic March, supported by an appropriate cast, enact the role of gentleman doctor and grotesque fiend.

With reference to the account in yesterday's issue of the funeral of Sergeant A. A. Xavier, it should have been stated that a strong detachment from the Company of the deceased, the Portuguese Company, was present under the command of Lieutenant S. Jarvis, M. C. with all the Platoon Commanders, Lieutenant J. S. Rodrigues (O. C. of the Platoon of the deceased) and 2nd Lieutenant J. H. Lawrence, J. V. V. Dos Remedios, and H. J. Silva. The following also attended—Captain and Adjutant W.H.G. Goater, D.S.O., M. C. (representing Headquarters); R.S.M. W. H. Edmonds, M.B.E. (representing The Sergeants' Mess); and C.Q.M.S. J.C.M. Graham (representing the Machine Gun Company).

In the Busy Bees raffle in aid of St. Dunstan's and local Charities, the winning numbers were as follows—1st prize, 83; 2nd, 287; 3rd, 440; 4th, 391; 5th, 243.

Sunday will find a real Chinese talking picture made in Shanghai by the Unique Film Company at the Garden Theatre. "Romance of the Opera," with a cast of the best Chinese actors and actresses, is a picture with a truly modern story. Its scenes contain dancing and musical numbers of both Chinese and European type. The dialogue is entirely in Chinese and will undoubtedly appeal to the Chinese public.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MRS. PLACE DA SILVA

The funeral of Mrs. Maria Antonia Place da Silva, who died in the early hours of yesterday morning at her residence in Humphreys Avenue, Kowloon, took place last evening at the Roman Catholic cemetery in Happy Valley, Father Spada officiating. Owing, however, to the exceedingly heavy rain which had fallen all the afternoon, the family vault was found to be flooded, and the coffin was not buried but was temporarily placed in the chapel.

There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, and a procession of wreaths was sent.

The late Mrs. da Silva was 91

years of age, having been born in Macao on February 26, 1841, and came of a remarkably long-lived family, several relatives attaining a great age. She was the widow of the late Mr. Jpao M. A. da Silva, who had been in Government service from 1866 to 1893, when he retired on pension. He died in 1907. The couple were married in 1861, and at her funeral yesterday more than one person present recalled the wedding. There were five sons and two daughters of the marriage, some of whom are since deceased. Three generations of descendants are surviving to-day.

The deceased lady's family has been connected with the Colony for the whole of its history. Her father was the late Antonio Joao Place, who was a captain in the Portuguese mercantile marine, trading with these parts more than a century ago.

THE WASHINGTON TROUBLES

The clash between troops and
"bonus marchers" in Washington is regrettable but not altogether surprising. There were hopes that with the Congress vote of one hundred thousand dollars being made available for the transportation of these men to their homes,
there would be an end to the trouble, but the veterans' leaders have latterly been strongly urging the men not to move until their demands were complied with. On the other hand, by reason of sanitary and other problems created by the presence of these thousands of ex-Servicemen in rough-and-ready camps near the capital, the authorities have several times
issued warnings that the agitators
must return to their home States.
Some had already left before Thursday's trouble broke out, but the great majority were evidently determined to stand fast and refuse to be disbanded. In the circumstances, a clash was inevitable.
It has occurred, with loss of life.
What the reactions will be it is difficult to say, but the situation
is certainly full of ugly possibilities.

The war veterans' bonus has been an almost constant source of trouble in the United States ever since it was passed into law. In reality, it amounts to a gratuity payable to the four million men who volunteered or were drafted for service in the World War. The bonuses, however, are not due for payment until 1945, but certain certificate-holders have been able to borrow a proportion of the value of their bonuses. Only quite recently the number eligible for this privilege has been considerably added to under an Act of Congress passed since the bonus
marchers arrived in Washington.
The immediate cause of the trek to the capital, of course, has been unemployment. Being without work, these ex-Servicemen decided to march to Washington and demand the cashing of their bonuses.

One can appreciate the plight of the men, but, none the less, the tactics they have adopted can scarcely be defended. They have been mistaken in their methods,
but they have also been encouraged therein by those who ought to know better. As one of America's most sober journals recently remarked,
not only has the seizure of railway equipment been condoned, but municipal, state and federal governments have fallen over themselves to provide food, shelter and transportation. Certainly common humanity would dictate efforts to relieve the needs of destitute
men, but that is something different from abetting a march on the capital. "Indeed, this expedition is only a frank expression of an attitude which has been fostered
in many veterans by maudlin sentimentality in certain areas of public opinion and by the demagogues of some politicians. That is a belief that the Government owes a living to every man who wore a uniform in 1917-18. It is a belief that the war created a privileged class. There should be one privileged class in the United States—those actually disabled in war. Men who are able to march upon the capital hardly qualify."

One of the most regrettable features of the whole business has been the manner in which politicians have been egging these ex-Servicemen on, whilst at the same time omitting to tell them that a bonus certificate calling for $100
in 1945 is worth only about half that amount to-day, and that the Government could not be expected to pay it in full before maturity.
But at the back of it all is the system which enabled such lavish and unnecessary grants to be made to these men. We can and do sympathise with all who find themselves in economic straits as a consequence of the world depression,
but the unemployment problem
could not possibly be solved by the mere process of paying out bonuses in advance. As to whether the United States Government has handled this larger question wisely or not is another matter. There has been steady opposition to anything in the nature of a "dole."
But it may yet be shown that there are worse alternatives than the British method of looking after those who are genuinely out of work.

Brazil and the Graf Zeppelin.

The Graf Zeppelin is shortly resuming her mail, passenger and freight service between Europe and South America.
The poetical or historical justice
of this the first airship connexion
between the old and New World,
has not escaped the Brazilians.
When the airship made its first trip to Brazil about two years ago, archives
were brought out by Brazilian writers and journalists, with records which told of the Deutsch prize-winning flight from St.
Cloud, a suburb of Paris, to the Eiffel Tower and back on Oct. 19, 1901, in a dirigible-of-sorts built and piloted by Santos Dumont, the Brazilian inventor and airman.
Another contemporary of Count
Zennelin and Dumont was Augusto Severo, a Brazilian pioneer in aerostation. A Brazilian, Barthilmeu de Casmoo, actually built an airship in the reign of John V of Portugal. With more patriotism than pertinency the Brazilians lay claim to a priority in the inventions, research and experimentation which have culminated in the Graf Zeppelin of to-day. There is no doubt whatsoever that Santos Dumont's un-flagging persistence and unconquerable courage and enthusiasm
did contribute to keeping alive the desire and efforts to solve the problem that baffled Icarus and Dedalus. And from this point of view Brazil is entitled to look on the Graf Zeppelin with national pride. One of her sons kept up the fight when Count Zeppelin was receiving the cold shoulder of an incredulous world. Thirty years ago the very wisdom of experimenting with dirigibles was being questioned. Recently a five-year-old boy boarded, unaccompanied,

the Graf Zeppelin in Friedrichshafen, Buenos Aires bound. The difference of three decades! Then only the bravest of the brave took to the air for brief moments. Today a mere child embarks for an air journey of thousands of miles,
crossing over mountains, deserts
and oceans with no more concern than if he were going to his grandfather's farm. No less important than the progress in the field of aviation is the new commercial and economic importance brought to Latin America by this means of contact with Europe. Operating the Zeppelin is not inexpensive and the route is not without its perils, yet the commercial advantages outweigh all these considerations and the ramifications of this service. A land thought of as the land of manana has become the land of to-day.

WUCHOW NOTES

CHOLERA OUTBREAK SUBSIDING

Wuchow, July 28.
The new Kwangai paper money issued by the Provincial Government, and printed by the American Banknote Company, is now being circulated in Wuchow. Some of the banknotes were on display at the police station in order to acquaint the populace with the new currency. The banknotes are printed in a variety of colours depending on the denominations of the bills.

A special notice is posted in the Wuchow branch of the Chinese Post Office system dealing with the suspension of all postal services to and from the "three eastern provinces" (Manchuria). The notice is dated July 25, and was sent from the Provincial capital, Nanking.

The Wuchow cholera outbreak has somewhat abated and it is hoped that before many days it will be stamped out entirely.

Entrance examinations at the Kwangai University will begin in the near future. The faculty expect that there will be a heavy enrollment for the fall term. Last semester, over 600 students attended classes, and it is forecast that several hundred new students will apply for admission this year. Three new buildings are being erected to accommodate the expected influx of new students, and new courses will be added to the curriculum.—Our Own Correspondent.

PRESERVING OUR LANDSCAPE

NO ADVERTISEMENTS WHICH DISFIGURE

The Hongkong Government has decided to strengthen the law in regard to the prohibition of advertisement signs which disfigure the natural beauty of any scenery or affects injuriously the amenities of any locality.

New regulations just issued provide that when any advertisement is deemed to come within the description given above, a notice shall be served on the person who caused the advertisement to be erected or exhibited, and on the owner of the land or building on or in which the advertisement is erected or exhibited requiring such person or owner to remove the advertisement within fourteen days of the date of the notice.

If the person against whom an order for the removal of an advertisement is made shall fail to remove the same, it shall be lawful for any person authorised in that behalf by the Director of Public Works to enter upon the land or building on which the advertisement is erected and to remove or obliterate the advertisement.

The materials of any advertisement removed in pursuance of these regulations shall be forfeited to the Crown.

It is stated in official circles that the Von Papen Government has had positive assurances from Herr Hitler that neither he nor his lieutenants will think of employing illegal means to obtain control of Germany.

ANZACS' DANCE

SUCCESSFUL EVENING AT PENINSULA

The traditionally casual Australian was well catered for last night, when the Anzac Company of the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps held its first social function at the Peninsula Hotel. A merry throng invaded the Rose Room and enjoyed itself in the free and easy style of the old "bush" dance.

All expectations were exceeded as to attendance, as the crowd was estimated at 150, among those present being the Corps Commandant, Lieut.-Col. L. G. Bird, D.S.O., O.B.E., Capt. W.H.G. Gontler, D.S.O., M.C., and Capt. E. J. R. Mitchell.

The evening was in the form of a supper dance, with a varied programme of musical and humorous items. Mrs. P. St. A. Sharpman, well-known local vocalist, was in fine voice, and gave a couple of dainty numbers; while Mr. J. L. Gecks and Mr. E. R. Jenkins were associated in a humorous duologue.

"Radio" Frank Read, a member of the Company, crooned over his banjo and was a popular performer, and Mr. G. W. E. True damaged the piano in his syncopated style.

A touch of Australia was provided by Mr. A. Bates, who rattled off some of "Banjo" Patterson in fine form.

Although it was originally intended that there should be no speeches, Lieut. C. de Saillie Robertson, M.M., of the Anzac Company, said that the get-together dance had proved so successful that he felt a few words of thanks were unnecessary.

Words of Thanks.

"First of all," he said, "I want to thank our Commandant, Colonel Bird for coming along this evening and joining in our festivities which up to now have been very happy and successful, but then the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps owes the bulk of its popularity to our Colonel, who has always taken a keen interest in every unit, and of late, the Anzac Company, which although still a very young unit in the defences of the Colony, is one to be considered should trouble break out."

"Next I want to thank all you Australians and New Zealanders and your friends who have come along to help make this social effort of the Anzac Company a success. This is the fore-runner of others, which we hope to hold in the cooler season, because volunteering requires, in my opinion, something more than weekly parades at headquarters. We want to know each other better and so combine our pleasures with our duty to the Colony. The Anzac Company has still room for more men—the more the merrier, so if there are any present here this evening who would like to join our merry throng, I shall be only too pleased to do the necessary and can assure them that the uniform they wear is provided by His Majesty's Government."

"All you have to do is to be a regular fellow, the same as the rest of the Anzac Company, and so make the weekly machine gun instruction a pleasure to attend. Don't say you will think about it; the Anzac Company is here to stay, and you know as well as I do that should the occasion arise, its members will acquit themselves as well as the original Anzacs did during their baptism of fire on April 25, 1915."

MISS AMY JOHNSON MARRIED.

WEDS MR. J. A. MOLLISON IN LONDON

London, July 29.
Mr. J. A. Mollison and Miss Amy Johnson were married today at St. Georges Church, Hanover Square.

A large crowd, some of whom waited since 8 o'clock outside the church, shouted "Good old Amy" when the bride arrived dressed in a black coat frock and black hat, accompanied by Kathleen, Countess of Drogheda, who gave her away.

Mr. Mollison, dressed in a grey lounge suit, arrived earlier almost unnoticed.

The Archdeacon of Middlesex officiated, Colonel F. C. Sheldrake was best man. The only guests were a representative of Lord Wakefield and Mr. Mollison's secretary.

Miss Johnson said that they had made no plans for a honeymoon. "After a quiet reception I am going to Stag Lane to take over a Moth plane, a Jason Four. Mr. Mollison also having a new Moth we have firmly agreed that neither shall interfere with each other's flying plans."—Reuter.

BULLIES IN JERVOIS STREETS.

SHOP FOKIS TERRORISED BY GANG ACTIVITIES

A story of how a gang of bullies had been terrorising the shop foks of Jervois Street, which they appear to have regarded as a special field for exploitation, was told to Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, when Fung Cheuk, a self-described member of a Triad Society, was charged with assault and with obtaining money with menaces.

For the Police, Inspector Shaf-tain stated that for some time past a band of some 40 men had called on various shop assistants in Jervois Street, pressing them to join a Society of which the Police had had hitherto no knowledge and to which they gave the appellation of the Chung Yee Wai. There was a strong suspicion that it was simply a peg on which conveniently to hang their demands for money.

Suma varying between $5 and $10 were demanded by way of membership fees, and where the victim was unable or reluctant to part with those sums, he would be struck with the first as a sort of intimation that something more drastic was to follow if he did not comply.

In the present case, the defendant had been identified with these activities, but it was found possible to discover only six cases against him. In five of these cases, the victims had actually paid the money demanded, but in the sixth case the victim had plucked up sufficient courage to inform the Police. The result was that a trap was laid for the defendant and he was arrested by a district watchman sent out by the S. C. A. with marked money as the bait.

A Nervous Witness.

Amongst the witnesses called yesterday was one who said he was behind the counter at Wing Cheong Wo shop, 115 Jervois Street, when the defendant entered and asked for a foki named Lam Ho.

Witness had heard of the defendant as being a pugnacious fellow, and having carefully noted that the man who asked for Lam Ho was bare-footed, had his trousers ends rolled up, and was holding a bottle suggestively by the neck, he called the other foki out and himself hurrying from the shop, left a clear field of action for the parties.

The defendant: There was wine in the bottle.

Witness, resuming, said on another occasion the defendant came in with something wrapped up in a newspaper. He showed sufficient of it to disclose that it was an iron bar, about a foot long. Again he asked to see Lam Ho, and again witness thought it best to leave his place behind the counter and to beat a hasty retreat from the shop.

Evidence was next taken in respect of two other charges by different complainants.

The defendant was convicted on the first charge and sentenced to three months' hard labour, his Worship remarking that he was forced to the conclusion that the defendant must have been carrying on something of the kind alleged by the witnesses.

AUSTRIA'S DEFAULT.

INTEREST PAYMENT ON LEAGUE LOAN NOT MADE

London, July 29.
Austria has defaulted on the service of the Six Per Cent. Loan 1923/43, of 650 million kronen, which was the first loan issued under the auspices of the League of Nations.

The Trustees of the loan announce that following difficulties in regard to the transfer of funds held in Austria for the service of the loan into foreign countries, the monthly instalment due on July 1 was not provided and similarly the instalment due on August 1 is not expected to be met.

It is believed, however, that sufficient funds will be available to pay the interest due on December 1.—Reuter.

RAIN RUINED CRICKET

DRAWN MATCHES
ORDER OF THE
DAYFREE SCORING
BY SUSSEX

HARRY PARKS 172

London, July 29.
TORRENTIAL rain throughout the country came to once again ruin county cricket in England, and during the last three days' programme, no less than four of the seven first-class matches were left without decision on the first innings.

The only games in which first innings points were won Hampshire v Worcester and Notts v Northants.

COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Gloucester (99-2) drew with Surrey (did not bat) at the Oval.
Essex (189-9 dec.) drew with Glamorgan (70-3) at Clacton.
Hampshire (183) beat Worcester
(164) on 1st innings at Bournemouth.
Sussex (349-8 dec.) drew with Derbyshire (115-5) at Hove.
Notts (185 & 219-5) beat Northants
(166) on 1st innings at Nottingham.

TEST TRIAL.

England (180-3) drew with The Rest
(did not bat) at Cardiff.

The Test Trial to give assistance to the selectors of the forthcoming Australian tour, was a complete wash-out, the intervals between the rain storms permitting only of England to score 180
for 3 wickets, K.S. Duleepsinhji found time to put together 92, and when rain definitely brought the ruined match to a close, he was still undefeated.

Hampshire and Worcester, playing at Bournemouth succeeded in completing an innings apiece,
the homesters compiling 183 and the Pottersmen finishing up 19
runs behind.

HOW HELEN
WONEASY MATCH IN
WIMBLEDON
FINAL

London, July 2.
Yesterday at Wimbledon Mrs. F. S.
Moody regained the Singles championship. She first won it in 1927 and held it for the three following years, but did not compete last year. Her compatriot, Miss Helen Jacobs, whom she beat in the final yesterday, was also in the final against her in 1929.

On that occasion Miss Willis (as she was then) won by 6-1, 6-2; yesterday
she won by 6-3, 6-1, but whereas the former match was an easy one for the champion all through, in yesterday's encounter Miss Jacobs fairly held her own up to a point. She was mainly mastered after that point had been reached owing to lack of stamina
rather than of skill.

WINNER'S TACTICS.

Mrs. Moody nowadays rarely employs the really fast and hard hit drive which was once the cornerstone of her game; she aims rather at out-manoeuvring than actually out-playing her opponent by plying her with a stream of firmly hit drives
the speed of which is so carefully controlled that they very seldom go astray. She reckons by exerting this continuous pressure to create a situation which enables her to slow
the ball safely away into some part of the court which she has caused the opponent to expose, unless she has already saved her the trouble by missing a previous return.

Miss Jacobs has, I fancy, taken a leaf out of her book, and, although her methods of execution are dissimilar, she plays much the same style of game writes W. S. Scrivenor. If there is any difference, it is that she cannot exert quite as much pressure as Mrs. Moody, and consequently has to play a more defensive game.
But she showed how expert she is at returning the ball safely when she beat Mrs. Mathieu in the semi-final and also during a considerable portion of yesterday's match.

AN EVEN START.

Up to 3-3 in the first set there was nothing to choose between the

A Wonderful
Marathon

WALKING RECORD

BY GUY M. BUTLER

London, July 2.
Even those with the longest of athletic memories must have come away from the White City last night feeling that they had seen the most wonderful finish to a long-distance
race of their experience. D. McLeod
Wright, the veteran champion, and D.
McNab Robertson, his young club-mate, both of the Maryhill Harriers, actually came into the ground at the end of the Marathon race together,
and together they remained up to the last 80yds.

I happened to be standing next to a fellow-countryman of theirs, who assured me that Robertson would win because he had a wonderful sprint at the finish, and had recently defeated Wright over 17 miles just in this way. Sure enough, as they rounded the last bend, away went Robertson
in as fine a spurt as one would wish

PING PONG LEAGUE

TWO MATCHES TO BE PLAYED

games will be witnessed at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. gymnasium this evening commencing at 7 p.m., when the following matches will take place:

Assoc. v. Confucian Assoc.

Junior League.—South China
Athletic Assoc. v. Confucian Assoc.

SIX MILES FINAL.

The six miles run was another final decided yesterday. J. F. Wood, the 10-miles champion, has been compelled to lay off by a spell of staleness in the last month or so. Nevertheless, he ran in his accustomed spasmodic bursts for three miles and maintained the lead for that distance.
After that, J. H. Potts, J. T. E.
Holden and A. F. Furze went into the lead and packed till the last half-mile, when Potts drew away to win
by 4 seconds from Holden with Furze
another 8 seconds behind.

ARMY BILLIARDS.

SERGEANT JARMAN'S DUAL SUCCESS

Sergeant Jarman achieved a personal success when he won the billiard championship as well as the snooker championship of the Army Billiard tournament which concluded with the finals at the Soldiers' Club last night.

Sergeant Jarman and Sergeant Pollard were the finalists in the snooker championship, which the former won by two games to nil.

Later Sergeant Jarman engaged Sergeant Clapp in the final of the billiard championship and won by twenty points in a game of five hundred up. Clapp was leading in the half-way stage but Jarman reduced the lead with some good breaks. His highest break was 65.

At the conclusion of the match, His Excellency Major General J. W.
Sandilands presented the prizes of the tournament.

The full results were:
Garrison Challenge Cup.—1, H. Q.

Sharkey Beats Schmelling in World's Heavyweight Title Bout

A BIT of the action in the Sharkey-Schmelling fight at Madison Square Garden, where Jack Sharkey made himself World's champion. This telephoto shows Sharkey (left) swinging right and left blows in the opening round. Gunboat Smith, the referee is at the right of the picture.

At Hove, Sussex delayed their declaration until it was too late to force a result on first innings.
They played the Derbyshire attack to put together 349 for 8 wickets, Harry Parks batting magnificently to score 172 not out.
Derbyshire, within a very limited time, scored 115 for 5 wickets,
the game being left drawn.

Notts and Northants enjoyed the longest hours of play, nearly three innings being played.
Batting first, Notts aggregated
185 and dismissed the visitors
166. In their second visit to the crenate Notts took bigger toll from the Northants attack, and before the close had scored 219 for 5
wickets, Walker batting brightly
for his 117.

OVAL FIASCO.

At the Oval, where Surrey and Gloucester were in opposition, the hours of play allowed only for Gloucester to score 99 runs for two wickets. After that the game was abandoned.

Glamorgan and Essex, playing at Clacton suffered the fate of the rest of the teams and could not reach any decision. Essex tried to force the issue by applying the closure after scoring 189 for 9 wickets, but the match was brought to an abrupt finish after Glamorgan had replied with 70
runs for the loss of 8 wickets.

two combatants. Mrs. Moody's length on the drive was not good, and Miss Jacobs was returning everything safely and making no more mistakes than her rival. She was, however,
being kept continually on the run,
and it seemed as if her heavily chopped forehanders and her almost equally heavily cut backhanders involved a far greater expenditure of energy than did Mrs. Moody's smooth and straightforward driving.

An early as the seventh game Miss
Jacobs was beginning to feel the strain.
There was very little volleying in the match, but in this game she had followed up a deep return only to miss the easy smash which Mrs.
Moody put up for her. This piece of luck, followed by a net-corder, helped Mrs. Moody to win the game and marked the beginning of a steady decline on the part of Miss Jacobs.

Mrs. Moody next won Miss Jacobs' service to love and then took the set 6-3 on her own. During these last few games Miss Jacobs lent several times on her racket while recovering her breath. In the second set Miss Jacobs fought on doggedly, but she could no longer avoid making errors or prevent the games from slipping away from her. Moreover, as soon as she had established a clear lead, Mrs. Moody began to hit harder, and as it made no appreciable difference to her accuracy, her mastery of the whole situation became more and more complete. The match lasted about 50 minutes, of which the second set took up only twenty.

for from a mile-runner, and, indeed,
his turn of speed was incredible at the end of a fast run of 26 miles odd.
Wright responded gamely, but he has not the sprinting powers of this runner, whom, it is pleasant to know, he has been coaching this season. He was beaten by only 1 2-5sec., which must surely be a record of closeness
in a race of this nature.

LALANDE HANDICAPPED.

Harry Payne, the English record
holder, came second, and it is amazing that he arrived at all, as he was suffering from a pulled calf muscle over the whole distance. He was six minutes behind the others. Lalande came fourth 2 minutes behind, and his trouble was bilaterated feet, but for which he would undoubtedly have been up with the leaders. It is an interesting coincidence that at the last big meeting here there was a sensational finish to the Marathon,
when Dorando fell, and at this Championship the next time that the Marathon runners enter the ground
there should be just such another race, but fortunately on this occasion not marred by the collapse of any runner. Indeed, both the Scotsmen looked fighting fit a few minutes
after they had stopped running.

The Track events were full of interest, and unfortunately I have no space here to say much about them.
A particularly meritorious performance was achieved in the 2 miles by that beautifully stylish walker, J. A.
Cooper, who won by a street in 17min
3-5-6sec., which is a new championship record by 5 seconds.

R-A-F PILOTS BEATEN

GREAT DISPLAY BY
"OLD HANDS"

DARING AEROBATICS

Flying exhibitions given by civil pilots at Hendon Aerodrome a week or two ago outshone anything that was seen during the Royal Air Force Display.

The occasion was a special pageant, the first of its kind, given by British constructors for the benefit of about a thousand special guests, many of them representing foreign Governments, and the crack test pilots demonstrated the latest productions of their firms.

Never before have such high standards of piloting skill and aircraft performance been seen in combination. The pilots, most of them men whose experience extends back to the early days of the war, not only did everything in a more spectacular fashion than the Service pilots at the display, but they introduced many new manoeuvres, and their handling of the machines showed a mastery of technique which made the evolutions a delight to watch.

The guests were having lunch in a large hangar when they suddenly saw the new Handley Page heavy bomber fly past the doors, with the pilot, Captain Cordes, holding both hands high above his head.

He made almost a full circuit of the aerodrome in this large twin-engined machine without touching the control column with his hands.

Afterwards, the new Armstrong Whitworth Atalanta, which the public has not yet had a chance of seeing, made a flight, and then there was a display by three Hawker machines, the Hart, the Fury, and the Jupiter Hart.

While the Jupiter Hart was taking off, its tail skid caught a piece of balloon cable about 300 yards long, and it carried out all its manoeuvres with this cable hanging below it. Flight Lieutenant P. G. Lucas was the pilot, while Major Bulman and Mr. Sayer piloted the other machines.

The pageant closed with an aerobatics display by Flight Lieutenant Staniland in the Fairey Firefly. It was without exception the most brilliant exhibition of aerobatics that has been seen in England, and the foreign guests were much impressed by the pilots' skill and the performance of the aircraft.

ARCTIC RADIO SECRETS

PROBING UPPER ATMOSPHERE

Slough, June 30.

A party of British scientists are making final preparations at the Radio Research Station, Slough, for a year's vigil in the Arctic Circle.

Their task is the planning of a radio traffic route through the ether.

One of their objects is to measure the number of electrons in a thimbleful of air at distances of 60 miles and 120 miles above the earth.

They hope to learn something about the short waves that travel along the region of the ionosphere (electrified upper atmosphere) and they want to know—

Why the suitability of particular short wave lengths varies at different times of the day and year.

Why the route across the cap of the North Pole is more difficult than other directions for short waves.

Why magnetic storms occur, affecting telegraphs.

First Of The Kind.

They will sail from Newcastle tomorrow week, and on August Bank Holiday will start the year's observations at Tromsø, the island off the coast of Norway.

Mr. R. A. Watson Watt superintendent of the research station, stated:

"So far no extensive radio measurements have been made in such Polar regions. The United States will be observing at Fairbanks, Alaska, the Dutch at East Greenland, and the French at Scoresby Sound.

Upper And Lower Layers.

"Measuring the electrons in a thimbleful of air will be done by finding out the shortest wavelength that returns to earth from the Kennelly-Heaviside and Appleton regions of the ionosphere, high above the earth.

[The lower part of the ionosphere is the Kennelly-Heaviside layer, and the upper part is the Appleton Layer.]

"The practical value of the work is great, for 120 miles up, in the Appleton Layer is the best region

HONGKONG CIVIL AVIATION

mentioned, would not nearly approach the outgoings on the most conservative estimate.

Major Creagh had circulated to the meeting an estimate which sets forth the following items:

Capital Expenditure, 2 aircraft at £3,000 each, plus substantial spares, etc., say $100,000.

Running costs, say $44,000.

Other outgoings, say 105,450.

Reserve and Dividend, say $20,000.

Total, $170,450.

Total First Year Expenditure $250,450.

Suggested Capital $300,000.

Taking the Income looked for at $170,450.

Against this he saw only a total of $135,000.

In a footnote to this estimate Major Creagh suggested that the Government could properly be asked to guarantee the service—on a sliding scale, if necessary—an income of $160,000 in return for the carriage of mails, since on only 100 lbs. of mail per trip the Government would receive some $224,000 in Postal Fees. Any surplus of Government subsidy would be earmarked for capital expenditure on improvements.

After discussing the above estimates in detail, Major Creagh suggested that a $1,000,000 company could assure Hongkong an excellent service, extending probably as far as Langoon and Singapore, but he did not see that this was necessary yet. It would be better to experiment with a smaller scheme and connect up with the French and Dutch. He was as British as anyone, but he did not want to be so inconveniently British he could not be international. International co-operation was the essence of peace and progress in this part of the world.

Opportunity to Be First.

"From October next the French and Dutch will, between them, run a bi-weekly service to Europe, but, once the French get into Hongkong, our job becomes twice as difficult, because there will only be half the income for us to work on, and, if they do come here, they will not be satisfied to stop at Hongkong but will push on parallel with us in our extensions Northward and Southward. Now is our opportunity to act and show them our willingness, from the beginning, to co-operate and so prove to them that there is no necessity for them to come further east than the confines of their own Colonial Empire."

Major Creagh concluded by inviting the meeting to form itself into a body to foster commercial aviation in the Colony and to form a business organisation having for its object the definite inception of an air line as suggested in his address.

An interesting discussion followed.

Mr. A. Ritchie, invited by Major Creagh to state the views of the Far East Aviation Co. Ltd., of which he is a director, explained that the company has been working for nearly three years more or less on the lines suggested in the speech just delivered. Major Creagh was correct in assuming that the company had experience, qualified men and funds adequate to carry out investigations. At the moment they felt that their plans were not ripe to come before the public with proposals, but they were approaching the Hongkong Government, Imperial Airways and other bodies with a view to forming a Hongkong public company.

Capt. W.E.F. Jones, who represents the aviation department of Messrs. Arnold & Co., Ltd., mentioned that his company had gone so far as to file a scheme with the Hongkong Government. Air lines in China had often met with failure on account of the political insecurity of the country although, apart from that factor, the country was the most promising in the world from an aviation point of view.

He thought the time was very close when air lines must be operated from Hongkong, which he regarded as a base of considerable importance to the chain of Imperial Air Routes which would operate from England. Hongkong was probably the crux of eastern air lines because from here lines could radiate in several directions.

A company so operating would look first of all to China, but in that country profit was still far off. The question was "whether it is possible to operate air lines with Government assistance, over territory which is Chinese, from a terminal that are not in Chinese territory?" Capt. Jones suggested that in his estimates Major Creagh had omitted a number of necessary items which would involve increased capital, but points like those could be considered and adjusted.

Air Lines and Flying Club.

Finally, Capt. Jones mentioned, with regard to the comprehensive proposals submitted by Messrs. Arnold & Co., to the Hongkong Government for operating air lines radiating from Hongkong, and also for operating a Flying Club, that his figures were a little more encouraging than he could have hoped for, but he must still rely upon a Government subsidy.

In reply to Mr. J. A. Plummer (Chairman of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce), Major Creagh said that China had not so far entered into agreements with other countries permitting them to fly over her territory.

Mr. Ritchie remarked that the subsidy offered by the Hongkong Government was totally inadequate. He suggested that Capt. Jones had formed the same opinion; but Capt. Jones said that, in his remarks, he had not said this.

Mr. Ritchie: "We have satisfied ourselves clearly that it is so." (Continued on Page 13.)

SUMMER PRECAUTIONS

Against Intestinal Troubles.

Anyone who has lived in the East for any length of time knows how prevalent are bowel troubles in the hotter months. This makes an occasional cleansing of the food tract highly essential during the danger period.

A weekly dose of Pinkettes is a precaution that countless wise people take. Pinkettes, gently cleansing but not habit-forming, are the ideal preventive against hot weather stomach and intestinal maladies. The occasional dose safeguards you against the development of troubles consequent upon partaking of tainted foods or drinks.

Pinkettes keep you cool, cheerful and fit, enable you to conserve energy and get through the hotter season without undue discomfort.

It's the occasional dose that does it. Take Pinkettes at week-ends. All chemists can supply you.

Major Creagh said that on learning there were two schemes already in the field he withdrew at once any suggestion of promoting a third competing company, but he thought that since, before a line could be actually started, either of the two companies would have to go to the public for their capital, the meeting might usefully form itself into a body to speed things up by consulting with the two established companies and strengthening their appeal to Government by its wider interests.

The opinion was expressed in several quarters, however, that there would be no advantage in forming a special organisation for such a purpose since the Chamber of Commerce was in a position to judge impartially and already had the necessary strength and representation vis-a-vis the Government. The Chamber of Commerce would not, of course, take sides but it could and should support aviation generally.

Motion Adopted.

The Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton suggested that the meeting might well pass the following motion:

"That this meeting approves in principle the establishment of an air line between Hongkong and Hanoi."

This motion was carried unanimously on the proposition of the Hon. Mr. Shenton, seconded by the Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson.

The proceedings concluded with an expression of thanks to Major Brasher-Creagh for his interesting and instructive address and to Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co. Ltd., for the use of their board room for the meeting.

The meeting was attended by Mr. J. A. Plummer (Chairman of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce); the Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton and the Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson (Members of the Legislative Council); Messrs. A. L. Shields, P. S. Cassidy and G. Miskin (Members of the General Committee of the Chamber of Commerce); F. A. Joseph, L. Kadoorie, C. New Bishop of VictoriaRev. Ronald Owen
Hall Appointed

The Rev. Ronald Owen Hall,
Vicar of St. Luke's Church, Newcastle, has been appointed Bishop of Victoria, Hongkong, in succession to Dr. C. R. Duppuy, who recently resigned. News of the appointment comes to hand in a Reuter message to-day.

The new Bishop, who has been Vicar at St. Luke's since 1927, was a scholar of Brasenose College, Oxford, where he took his honours degree in 1920. In the same year, he was ordained deacon, and he was made a priest in 1921, being appointed curate of
St. John the Evangelist, Lambeth, in the Diocese of Southwark. At the same time he became Missionary Secretary of the Student Christian Movement.

IN FAR EAST BEFORE.

Some few years ago, he paid
a brief visit to China under the auspices of the Student Christian Movement, in co-operation with Mr. T. Z. Koo. On that occasion
he passed through Hongkong and became quite well-known here.
Whilst in Shanghai he organised a number of meetings between the European and Chinese communities with a view to promoting better understanding between them, and arising out of these meetings he wrote a book entitled
"China and Britain."

MILITARY CHURCH
SERVICETO BE HELD IN ST. JOHN'S
CATHEDRAL

Owing to an error of make-up,
the Church Service announcements
in the South China Morning Post
this morning contain an obvious error with regard to the Military Parade Service. This will not be held at the Union Church, as made to appear, but will be held as usual at St. John's Cathedral, commencing at 9.15 a.m., weather permitting. The service is open to the public.

MINIMUM WAGES
ORDINANCENEW HONGKONG
DEPARTURE

GOVERNOR TO FIX

An Ordinance is shortly to be introduced in Hongkong to make provision for fixing minimum wages in occupations where pay
is at present unreasonably low.

This legislation, which is suggested by the Secretary of State,
is devised in order to carry out the obligations arising from Article 421 of the Treaty of Versailles in respect of the International Labour Convention concerning the creation of minimum wage fixing machinery.

The power of fixing minimum wages is to be given to the Governor-in-Council, and for the purpose of making an enquiry in connexion therewith the Governor
may appoint a Board of Commissioners consisting of five persons,
one of whom must be a Judge or magistrate, such officer to be Chairman of the Board.

Payment of a less wage than that fixed by the Ordinance will render the offender liable to a fine not exceeding $500.
